

American History 2nd Test

Test Statements

The following statements will compose part B of the second course test and, similar to the first test, they must be answered using the paragraph format that was shown to you back in September. One of these statements will appear on the test you are given (there will be two tests so people aren't sitting next to each other with similar tests) and you must apply your understanding of course material to answer it. You cannot bring cheat notes into the test to answer this question so you'll have to memorize your answer as best as possible. But, you have from the moment you've received this until you write the 2nd test to prepare your answer.

Statement 1 (3 marks structure 7 marks content)

Some would argue that social attitudes are circular. What do you think, based on the social attitudes of Americans from the 50's to the 90's?

Statement 2 (3 marks structure 7 marks content)

What were more beneficial for Americans? The programs in FDR's New Deals or those in LBJ's Great Society?
