There have been some classics produced by Hollywood that entail time travel: Time Bandits (some kid and a bunch of little people) travel through various moments in history on a quest, The Final Countdown (an aircraft carrier from the 80’s is transported back in time to the eve of the attack on Pearl Harbour….you can imagine how Zero’s do against F-14 Tomcats), and Hot Tub Time Machine (a cinematic classic). For this assignment you are going to take yourself back in time (through the time period of this course) and provide proof that you were there. To do this you will need to use whatever computer software you have to superimpose your likeness at the events you choose, or with the people you choose to meet. You need to choose a balance of people and events from the course time period and for each one you have you must provide a paragraph explaining where you are/who you’re meeting, why you chose it, and why it/he or she is important to history. So, you can’t write that you went back in time to play with Gretzky because he could pad your stats. You’ll have to provide research (so referenced proof) to support the claim you make about why the person or event you chose is important. Seeing as these paragraphs will be persuasive you will have to follow the paragraph structure taught in class. Each paragraph will be typed, double spaced and in size 12 font. You will have a total of 8 moments/people from history, no more, no less. Since you will be providing proof it will be required for you to provide a works cited at the end of this assignment.

This ISU will assess your knowledge and understanding, communication, and application, be marked out of 60, and graded with the following rubric. Submissions for this can be electronic to save paper and ink, so you can use whatever software you want for the final construction, but know that if I can’t open it, I can’t mark it. Please don’t hesitate to ask questions when they arise.
